I am working as a contract agent at the EU Delegation in Kazakhstan since 2009.

My position of Regional Crisis Response Planning Officer allows me to work in 11 countries, where a close cooperation with the respective EU Delegation is envisaged.

For a period of two years I was deputy staff representative at the Delegation in Kazakhstan and during that time I had to deal with the main problems faced by our staff in Delegations. I believe that in order to start solving the issues we need to make sure that staff is involved in taking decisions, which involve all of us. This involvement is equally important at Delegation's, as well as at Headquarters' level.

Thus I believe I can contribute to accomplish the goal of reaching more fair working conditions for all colleagues in Delegations, as well as assuring transparency in decision making"
